

You

Bright light to cast away the night sky
Dawn
Warm and bright
Like the beginning of a new era
The promise of something better

The ice on the grass goes away
Colourful flowers lie on her face
Show her every lovable feature
The motherland
She embraces me and is proud

The sun glows
Beams bouncing off her golden-like hair
The world seems so beautiful through her green eyes
She smiles at me and I am proud to be hers
I kiss her silky lips with mine chapped and dry
Yet she does not deny me
I hug her tight with my hands tough and cold
She warms me with her embrace
I watch her sleep
So peaceful and tranquil
A toast to my queen
You

By Hillary Dube